Surveying and Resource Management

LICENSED CADASTRAL SURVEYOR OR TECHNICIAN

An exciting opportunity for a Surveyor or Technician to join our growing multi-disciplinary team, based in modern offices in the Nelson CBD

About us:

Here at Planscapes, we're experts in resource management, land surveying and land development, working largely across the top of the South Island. You can find out more on our website www.planscapes.co.nz.

About the role:

Our client base is growing and we're looking for a Surveyor or Technician to join our Surveying team. It's an exciting role as the scale of our projects can vary enormously, from helping private property owners to leading multi-disciplinary project teams in a collaborative approach to completion of multi staged projects. Key responsibilities in this role include:

- undertaking various types of surveys including land transfer, topographical, and land development
- preparing land development engineering plans
- resource consent applications and assessments of effects
- providing pre-purchase or pre-development property advice to clients
- engaging in community and Council consultations and meetings
- building strong, positive relationships with clients, allied professionals and Council staff.

Skills required:

This role is perfect for a Licenced Cadastral Surveyor or Technician with at least 5 years experience. You'll be familiar with modern surveying equipment, experience with Magnet Office software would be an advantage.

You'll be a self-starter with great interpersonal skills and the ability to build strong professional relationships.

Only Licensed Cadastral Surveyors or Technicians with the right to work in New Zealand will be considered for this position.

What we offer:

Here at Planscapes, we offer the opportunity to be part of a small, friendly and fun team and working on a range of projects across a great part of New Zealand. We're committed to providing opportunities for professional development while supporting flexible working and a healthy work-life balance.

If this sounds like the opportunity you've been waiting for, apply today!
