Te Tākinatanga - Our Story

At Toitū Te Whenua Land Information New Zealand, our key role is to ensure New Zealanders have accurate information about where people and places are, that people have confidence in their property rights and that Crown property is well managed for future generations.

From the best way to develop farmland, build a new suburb, manage a high-country farm, or navigate on land or at sea, our work and location information help people make better decisions and create economic, social, environmental, and cultural value for New Zealand.

We aim to set our staff up for success and long-term opportunities for professional development and enjoyable career pathways with us. To help you in this role, a strong understanding of the cadastral survey system and its records is essential along with solid analytical and reasoning skills.

We're passionate about using our expertise to solve problems and provide the best level of customer service possible to our peer group and our customers.

Toitū Te Whenua offers a stimulating work environment, engaged colleagues, and flexible work arrangements. We have a great culture and encourage personal development, and training
