Cadastral Law Examination – June 2022

Survey and Spatial New Zealand conducts examinations by arrangement with the Cadastral Surveyors Licensing Board for the purpose of determining whether persons proposing to apply for a license to conduct cadastral surveys meet the standards set by the Board.

The exams are in two parts: a Cadastral Law Examination and Professional Interviews. As a prerequisite for the Professional Interviews candidates are required to first pass the Cadastral Law Examination.

The purpose of the exam is to test the candidate's competency in identifying and applying relevant law in the course of conducting a cadastral survey in accordance with the standards set by the Surveyor-General, and the legislative requirements for the subdivision of land to the extent that they are relevant to cadastral surveying.

The June 2022 Cadastral Law Examination will be a written exam only. The written exam comprises six questions. Question one is compulsory, any four (of the five) others must be answered. Total marks are 100. The pass mark is 60%.

The duration of the exam is 2 hours. No reference material is allowed.

The questions will be related to six of the following 10 topics:
