

Landonline Replacement

Survey and Spatial New Zealand are continuing to advocate for surveyors' perspectives (based on feedback from our branches) to be taken into consideration in the programme to Rebuild Landonline, with regular connection between Survey and Spatial New Zealand and LINZ at three levels:

- Lead Consulting Surveyor position to share surveyors' perspectives with the developers who are working on the program
- A Survey Working Group with 10 of our members from around New Zealand meeting with the Rebuilding Landonline team every three months to provide initial feedback on LINZ thinking to date.
- The Stakeholder Forum is the governance level representation of our membership to LINZ governance.

The Lead Consulting Surveyor is now confident that the issues raised by surveyors are well understood by LINZ, and is looking forward to working to include to capture more surveyor feedback as Rebuilding Landonline proceeds, and in particular, to understand how well the design of the new system is going to addressing the issues and opportunities highlighted by our members in his first round of branch meetings.